

I am pleased to announce this opportunity for K-12 teachers, administrators and librarians:

Below is the web link with the description and application process for the

National Endowment for the Humanities
Workshop for Schoolteachers
Summer 2010

Join us June 21-25 or July 12-16, 2010 for a one week Teacher's Workshop:
Abraham Lincoln and the Forging of Modern America

Funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities
Landmarks of American History and Culture: Workshops for Schoolteachers

Abraham Lincoln and the Forging of Modern America
<http://www.siu.edu/education/neh>

The application due date is March 2, 2010

Two separate sessions will be held. These are one-week sessions on the SIUE campus, with a two-day, one night stay in Springfield, IL.

STIPEND, TENURE, AND CONDITIONS OF AWARD

Teachers selected to participate will receive a stipend of $1200 at the end of the residential workshop. Stipends are intended to help cover ordinary living expenses, books, and travel expenses to and from the workshop location. Stipends might be taxable.

GRADUATE CREDIT

Participants who might want graduate credit (History or Education) will be provided with an SIUE graduate tuition waiver for up to three units of graduate course credit for this workshop. University fees will still apply. To receive course credit and a grade, an additional series of three lesson plans will be required to be submitted to the project director, following workshop participation. Registration for this tuition waiver will be processed on campus during the workshop.

CONTINUING EDUCATION

SIUE can provide you with documentation of your attendance and participation in this workshop; Continuing Education Professional Development Units (CPDUs) are available (School of Education fee applies).
